HyperMotion presents players with an intuitive and dynamic feel to the game. This new feature allows players to kick, dribble and pass with more fluidity than ever before. With a new fluidity system that allows players to spin, control-twist, shoot, dribble, and pass with more command, players are naturally given the tools to excel on the pitch and in their free time. FIFA 22 also includes customizable, emotional and expressive faces and animations as a result of motion capture technology. These features are combined with over-the-top moves, enhancements to attack, counters, one-of-a-kind atmospheres, over-the-top celebrations and more. The ultimate goal of this feature is to put more options and more options in the hands of every player to help you master the game as well as you master the game. "Technology should enrich our lives, not replace our jobs as creators," FIFA President Joseph S. Allershand said. "And one of the most important jobs as a creator is to continuously seek a unique and creative way to tell our story to make you feel more connected to the sport that you love. It is in this spirit that we have designed the revolutionary and unrivaled gameplay enhancements that will transform how the world plays and feels to make FIFA an experience like no other." Evolving Player Intelligence "This year, we are evolving our play engine to deliver a new layer of intelligence to players," SVP of Player Intelligence and Player Experience Patrick Easterly said. "Our innovation labs in England, which are staffed with genuine professional gamers, have been hard at work on this incredible project. Together with our partners in the Player Analytics team we are the first to use machine learning with a goal to understand the mindset and actions of players. We are now in a position to deliver tools that not only give players more freedom on the field, but also allow us to deliver a deeper and more rewarding experience for the fans." FIFA 22 also introduces two firsts: * The FIFA Player Analytics will provide a new level of insight into player performance and behaviors through evaluation and analysis of where a player is on the pitch, what actions they take, and how they perform in different circumstances.* More than just a stat sheet, the FUT Team Tab will provide instant, reliable and consistent access to in-depth information about your squad, including team strengths and weaknesses, tactics and

FIFA is a football (soccer) video game franchise developed by Electronic Arts. It was created in 1993 and is the biggest selling sport video game franchise of all time, with sales of over 110 million games worldwide. The series is a flagship title within the EA SPORTS Football series, with the game having been developed and published since the release of the 1992 original FIFA. A 1st person shooter version of FIFA was released in 2000 and was originally titled FIFA Football. It was rebranded as FIFA Soccer, and was made available for the Dreamcast, PlayStation, PlayStation 2 and PC. The game is played by one or more players, each of whom have a team of virtual players controlled by either human players, AI or both. Players manage the game from the dugout, creating and adapting their tactics for the type of game being played. Players participate in a match through a wide variety of game modes which include the classic FIFA mode, a tactical mode called World Tour mode, and a full featured suite of online and offline modes. The game's career mode is also available for purchase.

Gameplay

Gameplay is the most fundamental part of FIFA. In FIFA you control a team of players, just like in the real game. The key difference however is that you are not limited by using players from your current country but may only use players from the World Cup countries your season starts with. Like real football, players have attributes in FIFA which are represented by playing a game for example. Ex.: speed, stamina, ball control, shots, technique, power... Players can't be controlled by the computer like in the real game so they will need to be controlled by human players. By controlling the players you can;

- Gain possession of the ball and pass it to the player who has the best attributes
- Attack the opponent by dribbling past them and pass to your team mates
- Jump for headers and headers for shots
- Kick and tackle the opposing player by pressing the corresponding buttons.

On the defensive side of the game;

- Win the ball back from your opponent by giving them a tackle.
- You can however; Defend your own goal from players and objects trying to score against it
- Win the ball from other players who try to do the same thing
- Block shots from your opponent

The controller contains a D-pad and four triggers or buttons, representing the names of the four main
